SCHOOLS ACROSS SCOTLAND ARE PROMOTING TRANSGENDER IDEOLOGY TO CHILDREN!

Many primary schools teach the RSHP (Relationships, Sexual Health and Parenthood) curriculum which introduces to pupils the idea of 'being transgender'.

Even some nursery schools are using books that promote transgender ideology, such as Julian is a Mermaid.

It is common for high schools to be secretive and NOT inform parents about a child wishing to change their 'gender' and their name and pronouns at school.

Transgender ideology is also part of the 'Time for Inclusive Education' (TIE) curriculum which is embedded across all subject areas.

Over the past decade, helped by lobby groups, many schools have imported transgender ideology into the curriculum and even into the 'ethos' of the school. For example, the idea that sex is on a spectrum is taught as a fact. The reality is that sex is real, there are only two sexes, and humans cannot change sex. There is no factual basis to the idea that there are 100+ different 'genders'. This idea is highly contested and should not be taught in schools as a fact.

The number of children and especially teenagers seeking help from 'gender' clinics has risen at an incredible rate over the last ten years. Many believe this is due to the influence of transgender activist groups in schools and online. So-called progressive professionals and educators have similarly helped to promote the idea that you can be 'born in the wrong body'. Nobody has ever been born in the wrong body.

The vast majority of children and teenagers seeking to 'transition' have social or mental health difficulties issues and/or are same-sex attracted (lesbian, gay or bisexual). These most vulnerable of children are being encouraged to think that their adolescent confusion or body or sex-related anxieties can be resolved by changing their 'gender' or sex.

No boy will ever be a girl or vice versa.

What we are seeing is the indoctrination of children, which puts them at risk of being placed on a pathway towards surgical mutilation and a lifetime of cross-sex hormones, together with sexual dysfunction, infertility and potential regret. All children risk being confused by transgender ideology. It should not be promoted in our schools.

The Scottish Union for Education (SUE) was set up as a union for parents, teachers and communities and we demand an end to the dangerous promotion of transgender ideology to children.

Challenge your headteacher about this. Contact your local councillor, MP and MSP and get in touch with SUE. Together, we must stop this abuse of children.
